Contents

Original Articles

Language chunking, data sparseness, and the value of a long marker list: explorations with word n-grams and authorial attribution
Alexis Antonia, Hugh Craig and Jack Elliott 147

Inadequacy of the chi-squared test to examine vocabulary differences between corpora
Yves Bestgen 164

Assessing the inter-method reliability and correlational validity of the Body Type Dictionary
Laura A. Cariola 171

Patterns of local discourse coherence as a feature for authorship attribution
Vanessa Wei Feng and Graeme Hirst 191

Found in translation: To what extent is authorial discriminability preserved by translators?
Richard S. Forsyth and Phoenix W. Y. Lam 199

Calculating syllable count automatically from fixed-meter poetry in English and Welsh
Michael Hammond 218

Optimizing word segmentation tasks using ant colony metaheuristics
George Tambouratzis 234

Alberti’s letter counts
Bernard Ycart 255

Reviews 266